JONATHAN IRWIN
WEB DEVELOPER

Summary

I am a full stack web developer with an abiding interest in using my skills to make the world better. I am a quick study with a sense of humor, looking to really challenge my web developer skills while also finding meaningful ways to fully utilize my marketing, communications, and leadership experience. I thrive in dynamic environments, bringing a range of passions from policy and health care, to community based work and the truly revolutionary. I love art - writing, music, comedy and culinary in particular - and spend most of my free time pursuing these interests.
